

Course Syllabus

Subject Number		Professor	Jeon Byung Hwan
Major	Asian Studies	Phone Number	010-5071-9269
Subject Name	International conflict	E-mail	jbh0368@gmail.com
Credit / Hours	3 Credits / 3 Hours	Classroom	2306

1. Course Description

This course is designed to introduce students with the fundamentals of international conflict and management. A particular emphasis will be placed on the modern conflict and the perspective roles of international community. We will have investigate how conflict affects international community and civil society and how to manage by third parties. We will also investigate each conflicts background, characteristics and impacts. We will analyze historical as well as contemporary conflict in order to understand the nature of

2. Course Objective

The goal of this course is to provide a comprehensive text dealing with multiple approaches to conflict management viewed in a contemporary light.

3. Course Purpose

Through general understanding of this course, students will acquaint with international conflict causes and international community's roles. Also student will familize with particular

4. Assignments

In addition to your mid-term and final exams, you will prepare each conflict study as a group work. Each group will research and prepare each conflict background, cause, progress, current state. Also the study will include the international effort and result.

5. Grades

Attendance	20%	Group work	30%
Mid-term	25%	Final-term	25%

6. Note

For each letter grade, a "+" or a "-" may be attached with the associated increase or decrease in points as follows:

90-100 A 80-89 B 70-79 C 60-69 D <60 F

7. Expectation

Students are expected to understand of international conflict and peace, theoretically. And the student could see the world as a relations with conflict and peace as a result of ethnics, race, religion, and natioal interests.

8. Required Text (Recommended Texts)

International Conflict management, Michael J. Butler, 2009, Routledge
 Peace Operations, Donald C. F. Daniel, 2008. Georgetown University Press
 Handbook of Peace and Conflict studies, Johan Galtung, 2007, Routledge.
 Understanding global security, Peter Hough, 2004, Routledge.
 Understanding international conflicts : as introduction to theory and history, Joseph S. Nye week	Title	Content	multi-media	class room

1	Introduction to international conflict management	What is international conflict management?		o
2	Current International Conflict trends and impact	We will survey all current international conflicts and its impact in terms of political, economical and social prospects.		o
3	National Holiday : Chu Seok
4	The Changing nature of security	We will learn about characteristics and nature of war. It would involve traditional theory in war, Karl von Clausewitz		o
5	The Challenges of 'new wars'	We will learn about the prevailing characteristics of contemporary conflict. A main focus is the conceptual distinction between 'new' and 'old' wars and a comparison of the causes, strategies, tactics, objectives, and support mechanisms that define each abstract typology.
6	Peacekeeping	We will learn about peacekeeping as a concept, why, when, and how peacekeeping is provided and the major debates surrounding it.		o
7	A study in Peacekeeping : UNMOGIP in India and Pakistan	We will learn about a case study of UNMOGIP which is going on conflict in Kashmir between India and Pakistan.		o
8	mid-term exam			o
9	Mediation	We will explore the use and evolution of mediation as a tool of conflict management.		o
10	A study in Mediation : IGAD, Intergovernmental Authority on Development in Sudan	We will learn about a case study of the mediator efforts of the IGAD in the Sudanese Civil War. This case illustrates the crucial impact of ripeness, the importance of commitment and flexibility on the part of the mediators, and the growing role of NSAs as mediators in contemporary intra-state conflicts.		o
11	Peace enforcement	We will learn about the transformed ROE, legal status, and resource requirement associated with peace enforcement operation, factors impacting the timing, provision, and sources of peace enforcement, and the continuing debates		o

12	A study in peace enforcement : INTERFET in East Timor.	An Austrian-led peace enforcement operation deployed to quell the outbreak of communal violence in East Timor in the aftermath of an UN-led administered referendum on self-determination in 1999. This case illustrates the unique possibilities and problems of peace enforcement operations led by pivotal states, while also elaborating on the general dilemmas surrounding authorization,		o
13	International adjudication	This chapter profiles the contours of international adjudication as a method for settling international conflicts. It begins with a brief synopsis of a resort to arbitration in one installment of the protracted conflict between India and Pakistan. The chapter then explores the defining criteria, legal, theoretical, and political debates, historical evolution, and inner workings of arbitration and judicial settlement in the context of international		o
14	A study in international adjudication : the Mapiripan massacre	This chapter depicts the adjudication of the Inter-American Court on Human Rights (IACHR) in a case involving the torture and murder of up to 49 civilians in the village of Mapiripan, Colombia in		o
15	Conclusion	This chapter revisits the main questions structuring this survey of international conflict management and its major applications.		o
16	final exam			o