- Children's Day : Each year, Koreans celebrate Children's Day on May 5th. This holiday was first introduced by the Korean novelist, Bang Jeong-hwan, in 1922 to promote children's right and happiness. During the Japanese occupation of Korea, celebrations ceased for a while. After the liberation of Korea in 1946, the holiday celebrations restarted and was moved from May 1st to May 5th.

- Parents' Day : Initially celebrated as Mother's Day in 1956, the holiday was later changed to parents day in 1973. Parents day is a holiday where Koreans honor their parents and grandparents; it is celebrated on May 8th.

- Teachers' Day : Teachers' Day was designated as a national commemoration day in 1963, to show respect to teachers for their contributions. Initially celebrated in May 26th, it was later changed to May 15th. The change was done in order to commemorate the birth of King Sejong the Great, whom is considered as a great educator in Korean history.
